

Security, Nuclear Weapons and the Impact of the War in Ukraine

5 May 2022, 15:00 – 17:00 CEST

Campus Luigi Einaudi, Lungo Dora Siena 100A, sala lauree blu grande

Hybrid Format

The International Affairs Institute (IAI) of Rome and the Vienna Center for Disarmament and Non-Proliferation (VCDNP), in cooperation with the University of Turin, will hold a 2-hour event discussing arms control, non-proliferation and disarmament and the impact of the war in Ukraine on these issues. The event will be on Thursday, 5 May 2022 from 15:00 to 17:00 Central European Summer Time (CEST), held both in-person at Campus Luigi Einaudi (Lungodora Siena 100A, sala lauree blu grande) and online via CISCO WebEx. Please note that in-person participation is limited to students and faculty at the University of Turin. Room capacity is capped at 90 participants.

You are invited to join IAI and VCDNP experts as they discuss the current geopolitical landscape, especially considering the impact of the war in Ukraine, assess the threat of nuclear weapons, including their potential use, and offer background as well as observations on the non-proliferation regime and existing disarmament efforts. The event will also include an overview of the work of the EU Non-Proliferation and Disarmament Consortium (EUNPDC), and information on opportunities to become engaged in the field by highlighting various fellowships, internships, and initiatives.

Speakers include Ettore Greco and Manuel Herrera from IAI and Elena Sokova, Nikolai Sokov and Federica Dall'Arche from VCDNP. Professor Stefano Ruzza, Associate Professor of Political Science (University of Turin and T.wai – Torino World Affairs Institute), will moderate the event. A tentative agenda can be seen below.

Please register for the event via this link:

<http://events.constantcontact.com/register/event?llr=xrzv97iab&oeidk=a07ej5p62h0a002cd6e>

The URL to join the event virtually via CISCO WebEx will be shared in the confirmation of registration email.

For any questions, please contact Ms. Lorraine Charbonnier, lorraine.charbonnier@unito.it.

The VCDNP and IAI thank the University of Turin for hosting the event. The event is funded by the European Union in the framework of the EUNPDC and the Young Women and Next Generation Initiative.

Tentative Agenda

15:00 Security, Nuclear Weapons and the Impact of the War in The Ukraine

Welcome Address and Moderation

Stefano Ruzza, Associate Professor of Political Science, University of Turin and T.wai – Torino World Affairs Institute

Panelists

Ettore Greco, Executive Vice President, International Affairs Institute, Rome

Nikolai Sokov, Senior Fellow, Vienna Center for Disarmament and Non-Proliferation

Federica Dall'Arche, Senior Research Associate, Vienna Center for Disarmament and Non-Proliferation

Q&A

16:15 Break

16:25 The EUNPD Consortium and Other Initiatives and Opportunities

Moderation

Stefano Ruzza, Associate Professor of Political Science, University of Turin and T.wai – Torino World Affairs Institute

Panelists

Manuel Herrera, Researcher, International Affairs Institute, Rome, and PhD student, King Juan Carlos University, Madrid.

Elena Sokova, Executive Director, Vienna Center for Disarmament and Non-Proliferation

Q&A

17:00 Meeting Ends